Version: 1.0

Date: 06 July 2026

World Agriculture Group (WAG) is pleased to announce the official publication and public availability of the Official Reference Documents of the Global Food Security Initiative 2050 through its official website, reaffirming its commitment to transparency, knowledge sharing, and international cooperation.

The Global Food Security Initiative 2050 is an official international initiative developed and published by World Agriculture Group (WAG), dedicated to advancing sustainable global food systems through international cooperation, responsible investment, innovation, and strategic partnerships in support of global food security and sustainable development.

The published Official Reference Documents include:

- Founding Declaration
- Global Food Security Strategy 2050
- Strategic Targets & Impact Indicators 2050

Together, these documents establish the institutional and strategic foundation of the Initiative and present its long-term vision for advancing sustainable global food systems, strengthening international cooperation, encouraging responsible investment, and fostering strategic partnerships capable of addressing global challenges while creating lasting impact for present and future generations.

World Agriculture Group (WAG) confirms that these documents are now publicly available to governments, international organizations, financial institutions, development banks, sovereign wealth funds, universities, research institutions, the private sector, policymakers, and all stakeholders interested in supporting the future of global food systems.

The Group welcomes dialogue and collaboration with institutions and partners whose missions align with the objectives of the Initiative and its long-term strategic vision.

The documents published through the Official Documents section represent the Initiative's public reference documents. Partnership documents, institutional cooperation frameworks, and implementation packages will be made available during subsequent stages of formal engagement with organizations expressing interest in collaboration, in accordance with the Initiative's institutional cooperation framework.

Looking Ahead

As part of the implementation of the Global Food Security Initiative 2050, World Agriculture Group (WAG) is preparing to launch the Founding Edition of the Global Food Security Investment Forum, an international platform that will bring together governments, international organizations, financial institutions, development banks, sovereign wealth funds, the private sector, universities, research institutions, and development partners to strengthen international cooperation, encourage responsible investment, and advance sustainable global food systems.

Information regarding the Expression of Interest (EOI) process for hosting the Founding Edition of the Forum will be announced at a later stage, following the completion of the Initiative's institutional preparations and in accordance with strategic and organizational criteria designed to ensure the success and long-term impact of this international event.
